COMPLETION AND REFURBISH VETERAN JOINS JET WORKS AIR CENTER

November 12, 2010, DENTON, TX Marc D. Johnson, an industry veteran in completion, refurbishment monitoring and project management has joined Jet Works Air Center as Director of Sales for Large Cabin Completions.

Thus far in 2010, Jet Works has delivered three Boeing BBJs after completing extensive interior refurbishment work, and recently announced it has been awarded a contract for the conversion of an MD-87 into a 24-passenger VIP configuration for delivery to the Middle East in 2011.

Prior to joining Jet Works, Marc served as a consultant to several BBJ operators for Maintenance and Completion services. Marc also assumed the title of Vice President of Project Development and Coordination at Aviation Concepts where he brought eight years' experience in all facets of project management, operations, maintenance tracking and completion production activities.

Marc was previously employed by McKinney Aerospace as Project Manager overseeing completions. His duties at McKinney included primary responsibility for aircraft completions including direct responsibility for contract compliance, design adherence, engineering documentation and production flow. His experience includes Boeing 737-700, 737-800, 737-900, Gulfstream, Bombardier-Challengers and XRS, Falcon 2000EX, Lear, Citation and Hawker aircraft.

Prior to employment with McKinney Aerospace, Marc was Project Manager for Magellan GPS, a Thales Avionics company. There he oversaw the creation of a board level avionics repair facility which served the branded name Neverlost for Hertz.

Marc served six years in the U.S. Marine Corps as Non Commissioned Officer in charge of the avionics shop for the famous "Blacksheep Squadron" VMA-214. He was responsible for the first GPS installation aboard the AV8-B Harrier and was personally recognized for his squadron's "readiness" rating by the Commandant of the Marine Corps during Operation Continue Hope in Somalia.

After military service Marc attended the University of Texas at Dallas where he earned a B.S. degree in Business Administration.
